Pastor's Paragraph

"Look! I'm doing a new thing; now it sprouts up; don't you recognize it? I'm making a way in the desert, paths in the wilderness."

Isaiah 43:19 (CEB)

Maligayang Pasko, Feliz Navidad, क्रिसमस की बधाई, Merry Christmas! We are ending 2020 on a bittersweet note. We have the celebration and joy of Christmas this week, followed by New Year festivities. Yet many people feel like we are living in shadows.

The shadow of COVID-19, the shadow of racism and prejudice and the shadow of elitism and political division are real. Our fears are more than imagined. We have lost loved ones to the pandemic. We feel neglected, lost and alone, frightened by "what if?" The light of day seems to last only a short while and then our fears, doubts and anxieties once again rise to the surface. That's the bitter part of the season of life we're all experiencing.

That's what makes Christmas so important to me. I'm not talking about the historical account, though that's significant. I'm talking about this year, next year, and the year after that. The blessing of Christ is simple: God keeps promises. To do so, Jesus enters into our world, bringing light, life and peace. That gives us hope. It fills our hearts with joy.

The hope I find at Christmas isn't a false sense of happiness, a smile or even a feeling of optimism. The hope of Christmas goes much deeper. The hope of Christmas comes from God.

God is greater than we could ever imagine. It's hard to grasp the majesty and joy of the moment when Jesus was born in Bethlehem. We struggle with the idea of a chorus of angels, much less the presence of a single angel. Too often we rest comfortably in our intellectual superiority, forgetting that God makes the wise foolish. It's only when we catch a fleeting glimpse of God's glory, the mysterious beauty of heaven, that we open our clenched fists and let God in.

Yet it's enough. God shows us there is a place beyond the shadows of fear and suffering. Jesus comes into our lives to invite us into that sacred space. No matter how difficult our situation may be. In spite of the disappointment and frustration we feel. Even when we are on the verge of death, Jesus comes to us. God is with us. I pray you will be open and willing to accept his love. Let him into your heart. You'll be glad when you do.

May the peace of Christ fill your heart and soul.

Merry Christmas,
Pastor Eric

Missions & Outreach

The Christmas Spirit has come to Corona. This year Outreach “adopted” Parkridge Elementary School last summer and took a generous amount of school supplies donated by you. This month we “adopted” two families with a total of 7 kids for Christmas. Again, out of the generosity of you we delivered toys and clothes on Monday December 14. Also, each family received $100 in grocery gift cards plus Walmart or Target or Lowe’s. Wow! This is the true meaning of giving to our community and the true meaning of sharing at Christmas. The Wise Men brought gifts to Baby Jesus and you have brought happiness and smiles to these children and their entire families. You brought the Christmas Spirit to Corona. Thank you for stepping up to help those in need.

Faith in Motion

For the past month our church family has been very supportive of a family of six. At this time, they are living with another family but our congregation has given them dressers, blankets, dishes, bunk beds, a washer and pest control as well as many other items. Now we are spreading Christmas joy by giving them gifts to make this time even more special. The children are receiving clothes and toys and the parents have been given small gifts and grocery gift cards. Without your prayers and support none of this would have been possible. Thank you, church family, for all your generosity.

Helping Out

Will you help some of our members and their families have a good Christmas? As we approach the end of a difficult year, most of us are doing well. Our belts are tighter, but we're healthy. That's a blessing.

Some of our members and their families are struggling, mostly due to the impact of COVID-19, whether due to the illness or the economic impact the pandemic has had. If you would be willing to help out, please send a donation to the church with "Christmas Assist" written in the memo or on a note. All of the funds collected will be distributed to families in need as determined by Pastor Eric and Karen Eagans and Shirley Carr, co-chairs of Member Care.

Volunteers Needed for Our Online Campus!

We need your help. Corona UMC has an amazing online presence. We are currently reaching more than 3,000 people each month online. However, we have slumped in our online participation, in part because we need you to reach out and connect. And those doing the work of preparing online services are burning out.

If you have skills or would like to learn, we need help in these areas:

- Preparing worship slides – Donna will train you!
- Video editing – Aaron is a master and will show you the ropes
- Social media – we need people to “meet & greet” others online before, during and after the services

We'll provide training. Send a note to Donna, Aaron or Pastor Eric if you are interested and available, even if it's just once a month.

Volunteers Needed to Engage!

How has Jesus called you?

You may not realize it but serving on a team is more than a responsibility. It's the third part of our intentional discipleship: Engage. Acquaintances we meet on the porch (Invite). Friends are made in the living room (Connect). Family is in the kitchen, preparing the food for our soul.

We need some help in the kitchen!

We're looking for people who are willing to roll up their sleeves and serve on the Finance team and on the HR team (that's what the SPRC is). You don't have to have a finance or HR background. You just have to be willing to be a team member, ask questions and serve to the benefit of others.

Please contact Wayne Vinyard for information about Finance and Jan Nichols for information about the SPRC. They are listed in our directory.

It's a blessing to have so many servant leaders in our church. Our thanks go to all of the outgoing servant leaders and welcome to the new members of our leadership team. We have a seat reserved for you. Come and join us!
